Mother's English

Mothers English is a China focused English learning support program of DMECC, currently led by Myungha Kim, a DAIS sophomore. Founded in 2016 with the goal to provide adequate English language support to primary age, Mothers English helps Chinese village students residing in Dalian. Mothers English strives to teach these children English through a friendly, engaging, and collaborative method. Currently, there are around 50 youth volunteers and around 100 Chinese students that are receiving support from Mothers English.

Diving Against Debris (DAD)

This is a global initiative under the umbrella of Project Aware. A local diving-instruction centre and friend of the school collaborates with the local government to coordinate dives in the local area to take PADI certified divers on direct 'fins in' action for the ocean, collecting critical survey data from any or every dive that can be used by marine researchers and policymakers for conservation efforts.

Sunday English lessons

September 2021 – June 2022

Every Sunday afternoon, youth volunteers teach the Chinese students English via Tencent Meeting, with each class 30 minutes long. Usually, every class consists of 5 village children that are either a part of the junior team (grade 2-4) or the senior team (grade 4-6).

Choir Performance

March 2022

The DAIS/DHS Middle School choir visited the nursing home to share music with them. The choir performed eight songs - three from the girls' choir, three from the boys and two combined. Students then visited the residents and spoke with them.

The choir students also delivered the goods that had been collected from the movie night held the week before.
